

Login Instruction& Usage Requirements

This website is only for technicians of Customer Service Department of Skyworth Overseas Branches to search and download technical information or documents, instead of open to the public.

1. Each branch will be assigned with an account. Administrator will send via Email the account and password to the Service Manager of each branch, and Service Manager can share it with its technicians.
2. The password will be updated every six months. Service manager must maintain the account number and password within internal use. It is strictly prohibited to share it with people who is not in the range aforementioned. System will keep the record of all the downloading of every member. Once an account is found abnormal, we will block it immediately.
3. The technical information of this website is confidential and should be kept strictly prohibited to anyone outside the range aforementioned.
4. If you can't find the technical information of latest model or find an error in the technical information, please inform us via email: GUSEN@SKYWORTH.COM.
5. Technology and Service Department of Skyworth reserves the right to interpret all aforementioned.